Surface Indications

What a miner would very properly term "surface indications" of what is beneath, are the Pimples, Sties, Sore Eyes, Boils, and Cutaneous Eruptions with which people are annoyed in spring and carly summer. The effect matter accumulated iduring the winter menths, now makes its presence felt, through Nature's endeavors to expel it from the system. While it remains, it is a poison that festers in the blood and may develop into Serofial. This condition causes detangement of the digestive and assimilatory organs, with a feeling of enervation, languor, and weariness—often lightly spoken of as "only spring fever." These are evidences that Nature is not able, unaided, to throw of the corrupt atoms which weaken the vital forces. To regain health, Nature must be stided by a thorough blood-puritying medicine; and nothing clse is so effective as

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

which is sufficiently powerful to expel from the system even the taint of Hored-tary Scrofula.

The medical profession indorse Aven's Sarsaparit. La, and many attestations of the cures effected by it come from all parts of the world. PREPARED BY

THE Republican convention to nominate a successor to the late Congreseman Ellwood, in the fifth dis trict, was held at Elgin yesterday. Hon. A. J. Hopkins, of Kane county, was nominated on the first ballot, the delegates from McHenry and Boone refusing to participate in the ballot. An ugly feeling was developed, and great fears of an organized bolt are expressed. The Demcrats will probably trot out El Mahdi Haines, the "worst speaker," etc., as their candidate.

THE New York Post, mugwinip, says there was a time when a politician of New York city had his dog carried on the pay roll of the customhouse at $4 a day, and yot this act, it thinks, was more creditable to the administration that tolerated it than the appointment which has just been made of a ward politician, one Sterling, to be chief weigher of the same cnetom house. The Post confesses it would sooner see a dog on the pay rolls than Sterling, because, as it says, the dog's pay would be only a theft of $2,500 a year, while Sterling will be a corrupter of the service, a fraud on the government and the importers and a foul example to every youth of that city who has to earn his bread by labor. Coming from a paper that supported Cleveland in the campaign and has been trying to support his administration until now, this is pretty strong language

Silver Money and Labor. The mining of silver, of which the bright dollars are made that the people love so well to hear jingle in their pockets, is one of the great indus tries of the country, it gives employment to at least fifty thousand men The business will increase as long as the government coins silver and keeps it a legal tender, but the moment its coinage is stopped and it is made no longer a legal tender, will its value be so lessened that it will no longer pay to mine it. The result would be calamitous, for the destruction of one great industry destroys the labor equilibrium, making all trades suffer. It would be a made no longer a legal tender, will ing all trades suffer. It would be a foolish nation that would destroy the value of its own products. For whenever a people of fifty millions and the greatest commercial nation on earth, refuses to coin the silver produced by its own mines, and keep it a legal tender, that soon is its value almost destroyed, the only persons that could possibly be bene titted by it are a few gold speculators. The Government might with about the same propriety pass a law that the people shall no longer eat corn bread, in order to raise the price of wheat and lessen the value of corn. The talk about everproduction is all bosh. NEW YORK POLITICS.

Opening of the Republican State Convention at Albany Yesterday.

Senstor Warner Miller Chosen Temporary Chairman-The Senator's Speech Upon Taking the Stand.

Delegates to the Democratic State Convention Beginning to Throng the Town.

Saratoga, N. Y., September 22.-The morning-opened with a bright sunshine, and at an early hour the corridors of the leading hotels presented an animated scene. The convention will assemble in the Casino at twelve o'clock. At this time it would be ridiculous to atempt to predict what will be done in the way of nomination. The indications point to a very lively scrimmage. The upper county men are growing more and more determined to make short work of the convention. West 22 possible for New York city men to com-bine upon a candidate this morning, before going into the convention, there is no doubt that such a man would se-cure the nomination for Governor with a burrah; but all hope of this has been abandoned, and the situation is a decidedly mixed one. Out of several hundred Republicans now on the ground, not one will make a prediction. If a poil of delegates had been made at mid-night the probabilities are that General Carr would have been nominated. His strength does not appear to have weakened very materially since that time, and he will surely enter the Convention with the greatest number of votes unless a serious break occurs to his ranks within the next two hours. Morton, Bliss, Cornell, Davenport and Drexel are pretty strong this morning. General Seward, of Utica, is still in the field, and appears to have a large following. He appears to be the most promising dark horse in the State. Mr. Seward's friends claim that unless a selection is made on the first or second ballet, their candidate will come to the front with flying colors.

appear to be strong, it must be con-fessed that a name not included in those mentioned is quite as likely to receive favor at the hands of the convention. The great unanimity and good feeling about which there has been so much talk mong the leaders does not exist. Such statements have been grossly exagerated. Everything is serene on the surface, but there is understood to have been a bad break in the New York City delegation has hight, and unless they can come together and units on a candidate, they acknowledge that the harmonious feeling is not as well defined as it should be in their circumstances There will probably be at least a dozen candidates placed in nomination. After the permanent organization of the convention as effect organization of the committee as affected, an informal ballot will be sales, followed by adjournment until to-eight or to-morrow morning. In his address Mr. Miller called attenof the State of New York for the first time in twenty live years, was fecafronted by both the illederal and State Government in the bands of the Democracy. The future generations of the heroes of the late war would be placed alongside of the Revolutionary before of our first period. He advocated a rigid addersine to the protection of American fundamental manner of the coming State—whether it shall be "D-a k o t a," or "D a co t a h," or "D-a o o t a"." enment no better civil service existed funder the sun." Referring to the political complexion of the Southern States, Mr Miller said that through the length and breadth of that land there was not to be found a single Government which bolds the rathe of Convenient which holds the reins of Government by the will of the people.

"The Republicans," he said, "to prove this statement, only asked for a fair field and a fair fight." Continuing, in refer-ence to the alleged filegal balloting in the South, Mr. Miller said the men who have managed the polls there would not continue to do the polls. continue to do the work without pay.
Upon the question of the civil service of the Government, Mr Miller said the Republican party had put the law into practical use and were committed to it.

He would suggest that the Civil Service Commissioners be at once summoned to-gother and directed to add a clause proconvention adjourned until 4 30 p m.
It is said that Mr Evarts, with the Union League's influence at his back, has been working hard for Bliss. Johnny O'Brien's move for Carr in the ballot yesterday showed a hostility to Cornell that gives the reason why that gentle-man was not put in nomination. It looks now as if an outsider must be agreed upon, and in that case it is thought the olds are in favor of Davenport.

good representation of both political parties around the hotels. As yet all that can be said of the Democratic situsthat can be said of the Democratic situa-tion is that Hill is evidently the leading favorite for Governor, with Cooper following him closely. One well-informed gentleman who is here in the interest of Cooper, concedes Hill 155 and Flower 70. This leaves Hill only 38 short of the 193 votes required to make a nomination. It is be-lieved that Cooper's friends will no carry their opposition to fill far enough to afford any danger of a split in the party if Hill developes great strength.

The Chambers Train Robbery Case. BLOOMINGTON, IND., September 128.it was ten o'clock before a jury was seected in the Chambors train robbery ase yesterday morning. The State's case was presented by Hon. E. K. Miller. He said he would prove that Charley Chambars was a card player, was immoral and on three separate occasions had forged names to promissory notes. had forged names to promissory motes. This created a sensation, as the defendant is making his fight on his alloged character. He would prove that the footprints found by the track at the scene of the robbery were Chambers', as he was pigeon-toed.

John R. East, for the defense, said the charges made by the proscention would charges made by the prosecution would not be proven; that the evidence would show that another party, who was on the train was guilty, and that the latter carried the club afterward found. SHARK RULE.

Chicago Police Courts Dominated By Mercenary Rascals—Justice Ruled Out.

CHICAGO, ILL, September 23 .- The Daily News last evening contained a twocolumn article under the heading: "An Appailing Revelation-Rascally Practices Systematically Perpetrated on the Fallen Women of Chicago-Forced to Purchase Immunity From Justices With the Wages of Their Sin" The article goes on to say that the recent London disclosures of the Pall Mall Gazette find a horrible counterpart, though on a different plan, in the treatment of dissolute girls and women who fall into the clutches of the ball sharks and officers who infest the Desplaines Street Police Station in Chicago; that the agencies of the municipal government have become charged and fitted with rottenness and corruption, and that the machinery created to administer, justice and enforce the laws has became the machinery of injustice and the pro-tector and deliverer of criminals. The article also contains a number of Inter-views with fallen women. They agree in all material particulars that one John Brennan, an ex-police official, and a professional ball shark is the all-ruting power at the Desplaines street station. The statements of the women are to the effect that when they were arrested Brenpan immediately appeared on the scen with book in hand. He went around from cell to cell taking names and asking each one if she had any monoy. If the unfortunate woman was the possessor of $4 or more she could secure Brennan's or book her himself; make out a ball paper and let her out. In lieu of money, articles of jewelry would be accepted. Occasionally the balliff would trust the prisoner for the thus. The women, in their statements, further declare that they are subjected to arrest on an average of twice a week; that Brennan still continues to exact from them the larger part of the proceeds of their miserable calling, the police holding the threat of the Bridewell over them to compel them to pay them.

The News says that this is the initiative publication of a series of articles which will appear, developing facts ascertained by reporters specially charged with this duty. Hardships of Rock Springs Coal Miners, ROCK SPRINGS, WYO, September 23.-As a result of resuming operations in the mines, but ten curs have been loaded with coal in two days. The capacity of the mines is about 500 cars per day. There were even fewer Chinese at work yesterday than Monday. "Only seven days to leave or you will walk out on foot" is the alternative of miners who decline to work with the Chinese. A large number of miners have erected dwellings in town, and improved tots bought from the company, and now they are given the choice of leaving within a week, abandoning their property, or staying with it and starying, being deor staying with it and starving, being de-barred from work in the company's mine, which is the only place they can obtain work. There is more or less gossip in at least forty-two cities in this state as to what the Commission will do at its meeting at Springfield on next Tuesday, the 29th, when the seven gentlemen will assemble to decide upon the location of the Sailors' and Soldiers' Home. Decatur's chances are known to be good, as her rating is said to be higher than that of any other city in the state, and if the Commission go on "points," the Home will undoubtedly come to this city. In last Sunday's edition of the Springfield Journal appeared the following gossip with reference to the matter

reserved to the matter

Where the Commission will locate the Soldiers' Home nobody can tell positively, but there is much speculation in the matter and some hints are alreat of greater or less value Agentleman in this city, from Alton professes to know how the Commission stands. He declined to tell how he came by his information, but says it is certain that the scale of grading adopted by the Commission, and heretofore cined to tell how he came by his information, but says it is certain that the scale of grading adopted by the Commission, and horstofore described in the Journal, hus left the matter now in such a position that after at the final decision will have to be made by an actual vote, instead of a simple arithmotical calculation as at first supposed it would He estations according to their preference. He said it was true that, of their preference He said it was true that, of the seven members three favor Springfield and three favor Decatur, the seventh not being in favor of either of these places, but of some other which he did not know, but supposed to be Bloomington Aurors or Alton Of gourse, he said if this information is correct, the final determination depends upon the seventh man. He went on to say that a weaithy citizen of becatur in conversation Friday, in East St Louis, said no one acquainted with the facts could imagine how warm the Decatur people have become upon thosubject of the location, so warm in fact that any decision which did not locate the institution there would inestitatly leave bittorness and heart-burning.

Another gentleman profossed to know that the Commission stands two two, two and one, divided among four localities but he could not give a satisfactory guess as to what the localities are, or what members constitute the respective divisions

DECATUR, ILLINOIS. TRIMMING HEDGES.

No Whey Should Be Cared for to Secure the Maximum of Growth and Beauty. No one who has given the subject any attention can pass through the country and observe how the hedges are trimmed, without coming to the conclusion that very few understand how a hedge should be trimmed to make it look beautiful and natural, or how to trim it so as to keep it grean and vigorous close to the ground. The most common and natural, mistake is not to cut off enough the first and secoud year. Every one who sets a hedge is in haste to get it up to the proper height in the shortest time possible, and so, even if they know it is not the best way, they are very likely to let the shears run too high. Another mistake is common, which is to cut the top nearly horizontal and the sides perpendicular. Why this is done is one of those mysteries which there seems to be no accounting for; certainly it is not natural for trees or shrubs to live in such a box-like form, and it is equally certain that it does not add to the natural beauty or durability of the hedge look stiff and formal, and proves hedge look stiff and formal, and proven fatal to the life of the lower branches. The lower branches will begin to show dead wood soon after the hedge gets to its height, and in a few years large gaps will appear, where both the leaves and branches have died out, thus making the hedge appear anything but ornamental. After vain efforts of the owner to cover these unsightly gaps with green leaves, the hedge in re-moved because it fulls to be the object of beauty it was intended, and the real cause of the unsightly gaps never sus-

Whenever we attempt to assist na ture to beautify herself, we ought to confine ourselves as closely as possible to nature's laws. The leaves of the trees and shrubs that are set for bedges require sunshine and air to make a vigorous appearance; in fact, shut out either sunshine or air and the leaves will die. It is the nature of a tree to throw out its branches so those nearest the ground will extend the farthest from the trunk, and; it is also natural when the tree gets large and the upper branches extend beyond the lower, for the lower branches to die. Such being the fact, when we attempt to train a hedge'so as to keep the branches vigor-ous close to the ground, we must be careful to prevent any of the upper branches extending beyond the lower ones; in fact, to keep the lower branches vigorous we must be very careful not to cut them so as to make them guite as short as those above them. The hedge should be properly shaped when it is small, trimming it down quite close and leaving the bottom of the hedge wider than the top, and the top should be considerable higher in the middle. It is true by trimming in this way it will take several years longer to get the hedge up to its proper height, but when once grown it will make a beautiful hedge, and continue so for more beautiful if it be trimmed with a knife instead of with shears. The shears cutting the twigs on a line with each other it looks stiff and formal, in fact unnatural, and is painful to an eye that is in sympathy with nature. While the knife, if properly used, will leave the branches just uneven enough to look natural, and the foliage will show to much better advantage. It is true it is more work, to trim with the kalfe but the hedge is grown for beauty and not for profit.—Massachusetts Plough

THE CORNEIELD.

An Editor's Reminiscences of a Familia:

It is in August that the cornfield is in its prime. The sight of a noble field of Indian corn in full tassel is a finer one any day than that of the proudest brigade that ever marched in other day, lightning melted an um its pomp to the wars. Corn is virginal | brella carried by a gentleman withon this Continent. It is leafed and out injuring the latter in the least. plumed with associations of the Colon ial days, when the white man first me the red man with open and clear hands. It strikes its strong roots into the oldest known stories of this New It has nothing whatever to do with the life or literature of the Old World, but begins an entirely new and delightful chapter. The last vestige of the Indians themselves may have faded from view, but their remembrance will be less lynched as World; no tale is older than that which kept alive so long as we, their pale-fuced successors and dispossessors, con-tinue to cultivate their golden-eared

Corn-planting time is hailed by every one in the country with true gratifica-tion. After the fields are all prepared with very much more cost and care now than formerly—the work of the regular season on the farm begins. In days not so very far back the boy rode the horse, with his father at the plow-tail geeing and hawing the oxen. Then followed manuring, after that, dropping the seed, including the inevitable one pumpin seed to a hill; and finally the covering. And on the Sunday following the planting of a full field of corn, when the surface looked quietly muse on the appearance of the $3.35 per pound. result of his industry, from over the stone wall. His week's work then, if ever, gave him accontented antiafac-tion; and all the more because he was a ever, gave him accontented antiafaction; and all the more because he was a letsurely visitor in his Sunday clothes sores, a soil catarrh, diphtheria, and all sores, a soil catarrh, diphtheria, and all where he had so recently been a tired toller with patched knees and in starchless shirt. The double row of potatoes next the wall, and the scattering fills of white beans on the gravelly knolls, lestify to the farmer's calculating qualities—the former planted to let the sun in upon the outside rows of corn, the latter to another. Then there are poles set here and there about the field to which white string is tied to telegraph danger to this manual in the Grigon Glycesine School which white string is their to telegraph danger to the marauding crows, and there are hideous scarecrows be unt there are hideous scarecrows be.

When in tassel, corn is waying in the plenitude of its prom-ises. The very soil seems proudly to hold up the ranks of green columns for the eye to delight in. And when the wind comes and rustles its long, lance shaped leaves, so decily green, the sound and the motion seem precisely in keeping to ear and eye. Neither outs nor wheat, barley nor typ, cane nor cotton, compare with corn for fine ffect. Toward his corn-field the farmer feels, or once felt, as toward no other planted crop. His corn is the product that comes closest of any to his daily life. He handles every yellow ear of it, first to husk and then to shell it; and its sweet meal makes golden loaves for the table at which he three times a day sits down with an appetite. He feeds corn to his poultry and his pigs; smothers his chopped hav with the mellow meal when he baits his horse; takes it in the old family bags, patched and mended times number, to the dusty miller; and regards it as affectionately as any miner in the gulches ever looked on his store and the chimney in whose throat it is baked and boiled becomes related and neighbors; and it is to be naturally wondered whether the numer smokes that struggle out through the famer's chimney-top do not strain, on emerging, for a vision of the corn that still stands and rustles in the tassel. There is a hard and endur-ing honesty in New England corn. It is real vegetable gold, without allow Skirting the edges of the crowded field or pushing one's way through the army of stalks that rise above one's head, the solid character of this noble native product, never yet supplanted by the importations of other climes, impresses itself strongly on the awakened inagination. One readily associates i with the good hard flesh that is seen in the healthy cheeks of country boys and girls; with the sound and ripe health that is in the possession of their fathers and mothers; with smoking breakfast tables and the glad morning talk of the family, with plenty, and peace, and home, and happiness. It waves its plume over fields it has fairly won. Its broad green leaves bespeak a royalty that is rooted in nature herself .- Musachusetts Ploughman.

Though corn is worked now with the

What a Mississippi Pilot Says. Capt. D. M. Riggs, who is well known at New Orleans and slong the Mississippi river, says, "I have been suffering from dyspepsia for the past five years, and from broken rest, by severe pains in the bowels and kidneys. I tried every medicine recommended for these diseases, without expanse. without success. At last I used a bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters, which proved a success in my case." It cures all liver kidney and malarial diseases.

One of the reasons why Jeff Davis denies the story of having been taken in female apparel is, that in the last twenty years hoopskirts have gone out of fashion. A man would better be dead than unfashionable.
